

ALLIANCE FOR THE CERTIFICATION OF LAY ECCLESIAL MINISTERS

Self-Assessment Relative to the National Certification Standards: Director of Music Ministries

Introduction

This self-assessment is based upon the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers and is designed to assist candidates for certification to assess their competence relative to those standards and their respective competencies, including the specialized competencies of a given ministry specialization. Submission of a completed self-assessment is a requirement for certification.

This self-assessment is comprehensive and detailed and will take some time to complete. Candidates are encouraged to give it the time it demands. Once completed, it will highlight strengths as well as areas in need of further attention. At the conclusion of the self-assessment is a “ministerial development planning” worksheet that is provided to assist candidates in (a) developing specific plans to address gaps and areas of weakness so as to address these in advance of portfolio submission; and (b) in developing specific plans for ongoing development after certification.

The format of the self-assessment is as follows:

- There are five sections, four of which are devoted to each of the four standards (human, spiritual, intellectual/theological, and pastoral) and a fifth devoted to specialized competencies related to a Director of Music Ministries.
- Under each section are listed the competencies that comprise the heart of the self-assessment. Each competency statement calls for reflection and response as follows: (a) evidence of competence, (b) priority level, (c) rating, (d) comment. See below for more detail.
- To assist in the self-assessment, competency indicators are provided at the conclusion of the first four sections (the specialized competencies have no indicators). The indicators provide more information on what competence looks like.
- At the conclusion of the self-assessment there is a “ministerial development planning” worksheet that may be replicated as often as necessary to assist candidates in their planning to address any deficiencies.

Instructions

1. Section Review: Choose a section to work on, review all the competencies in that section, then begin with the first competency statement in that section. Indicators are provided (and may be found in Appendix 2) that can be used in determining one’s level competency level. Important: the indicators serve only as examples and should be understood solely as a resource, not a checklist of requirements.
2. Evidence of Competence: Evidence may include formal education such as courses, training, workshops, practicums, projects, internships, etc., along with examples from your history of ministry in which the particular competency was demonstrated. (Note: Successful completion of coursework or training, although important, when taken alone does not constitute evidence of competence.) Use the provided indicators for assistance in this step.

3. Rating: Use the following scale to rate yourself relative to that competency statement.

3 / Strong Competence: There is significant evidence of education and experience that substantiates strong competence.

2 / Adequate Competence: There is moderate evidence of education and experience that substantiates adequate competence.

1 / Needs Work: There is little or no evidence of education and/or experience.

Comment: Consider (a) how this competency may be documented in your portfolio; and (b) how you will address any areas in need of more work.

Alliance Self-Assessment Instrument

Section One / Standard One: Human

1.0 Standard One

Lay ecclesial ministers demonstrate the qualities of human maturity needed for fruitful ministry with the people of God.

Vision Statement

Lay ecclesial ministers, as all ecclesial ministers, develop their human character and relational abilities so that they can be “a bridge and not an obstacle” for people in their encounter with Jesus Christ.* This development entails the twofold dynamic of strengthening positive traits that foster ministerial effectiveness and lessening negative traits that hinder it. Accordingly, lay ecclesial ministers strive to deepen their knowledge of self and others, grow from experiences of suffering and challenge, maintain a balanced lifestyle and positive relationships, appreciate and value diversity, and demonstrate basic human virtues. Cultivating such traits and skills within a Christ-centered community contributes to the development of “a healthy and well-balanced personality, for the sake of both personal growth and ministerial service” (Co-Workers, p. 36).

* Pope John Paul II, Pastores Dabo Vobis: I Will Give You Shepherds (1992), 43.

Section Two / Standard Two: Spiritual

2.0 Standard Two

Sharing in the common priesthood of all the baptized, a lay ecclesial minister demonstrates Christian spirituality as foundational to ministry, integrated in service with the people of God, and possessing a sacramental view of the world that recognizes the world can be a vessel of God’s presence and God’s transforming grace.

Vision Statement

Having encountered the person and message of Jesus Christ, the hunger of the lay ecclesial minister for union with the Triune God is constant. The result of this hunger is the call to holiness built on the Word of God, experienced in the liturgy and sacraments, formed through suffering, nurtured in joy, and sustained in community with all the baptized and through the Church as Mystical Body. The minister gives witness to a well-formed spirituality through a rich and diversified prayer life, theological reflection, and action rooted in Catholic social teaching. Spiritual formation is grounded in the understanding that “if ministry does not flow from a personal encounter and ongoing relationship with the Lord, then no matter how ‘accomplished’ it may be in its methods and activities, that ministry will lack the vital soul and source needed to bear lasting fruit” (Co-Workers, p. 38). Therefore, open to the mystery of God’s love and in touch with the world’s realities, all actions of the lay ecclesial minister flow from “that fundamental conversion that places God, and not oneself, at the center of one’s life” (Co-Workers, p. 38).

Core Competencies

A lay ecclesial minister will:

- 2.1 Give witness to an integrated spirituality formed by Scripture, theological reflection, sacramental celebration, communal worship, and active participation in parish life.

Section Three / Standard Three: Intellectual

3.0 Standard Three

A lay ecclesial minister demonstrates understanding of the breadth of Catholic theological and pastoral studies as well as the intellectual skill to use that knowledge in ministry with God's people from diverse populations and cultures.

Vision Statement

"Formation for lay ecclesial ministry is a journey beyond catechesis into theological study" (Co-Workers, p. 43). A lay ecclesial minister's faith and ministry are formed by the study of the Catholic theological tradition focusing on the following core elements: Scripture and its interpretation, dogmatic theology, Church history, liturgical and sacramental theology, moral theology and Catholic social teaching, pastoral theology, spirituality, canon law, ecumenism and interreligious dialogue, the social sciences, humanities, and culture and language studies. Based upon this study, a theologically competent minister can articulate and interpret this Catholic theological tradition with disciples from diverse communities. A key dynamic of effective lay ecclesial ministry is the integration into ministry practices of the key documents and principal theories of pastoral ministry.

Core Competencies

Section Four / Standard Four: Pastoral

4.0 Standard Four

A lay ecclesial minister demonstrates a range of leadership and pastoral skills needed for functioning effectively in ministry.

Vision Statement

As a response to their baptismal call, lay ecclesial ministers accept the grace of leadership and manifest a range of skills and pastoral gifts which allow them to function effectively in ministry. In their role as evangelizers, they operate in a parochial setting which has various dimensions—faith formation, worship, cultural diversity, community life, social justice, and apostolic service. They are effective listeners who foster respect and offer compassionate care within varied family, community, and cultural settings. In the spirit of the Gospel, they serve others as companions on the journey of faith. These ministers demonstrate good stewardship, work collaboratively with other lay and ordained ministers, and exhibit human resource and management skills. They have an ability to discern and nurture the gifts of all the baptized in order to build the Kingdom of God. Lastly, these ministers embrace a professional code of ethics worthy of Catholic ministry and abide by civil and Church law. “Pastoral formation cultivates the knowledge, attitudes, and skills that directly pertain to effective functioning in the ministry setting and that also pertain to pastoral administration that supports direct ministry” (Co-Workers, page 47).
